

liveRES Bookings by Phone

Overview

On average, 65% of calls to hospitality venues go unanswered. That's a huge amount of revenue that's being missed – and a massive amount of business that's going into the pockets of your competitors instead. Never miss out on bookings by letting an intelligent automated telephone booking system process the calls for you, 24/7.

With our liveRES Bookings by Phone solution, all phone calls are answered promptly and professionally using IVR technology. Automated questions capture the booking information as the customer enters their request via a telephone keypad. The system then checks your central reservations diary for real-time availability and if the table is available, adds the essential details onto the system immediately. Confirmation of each booking is also sent to customers by SMS.

Zonal's fully integrated solution gave us the opportunity to ensure the journey via the phone booking system was as slick and customer friendly as possible. We have seen an increase in bookings already through the IVR and website and will continue to work to optimise that further.
